Since 2009 Construction View has been servicing some of the largest construction companies in Australia with the growing demand for internet based time lapse cameras systems on their construction sites.

This year, Construction View is happy to announce an extension to its services, with the introduction of security camera solutions for your construction site, ensuring that unauthorized entries to your site are captured in real time.

Using the latest in surveillance technology, Construction View security cameras are discreet, reliable and affordable.

Taking into consideration that every construction site is different, Construction View security camera systems are designed to suit your individual needs.

Construction View security cameras also have the option of being monitored via the internet, so even if you are not at your site, you can check to see if there as been any unauthorized entry.

Data can be easily retrieved for use by authorities or for insurance claims.
